

Adverbial Phrases:

Adverbial phrases provide additional information about an action or event in a sentence. They can describe time, place, or frequency.

Adverbial Phrases of Time:

These describe when an action or event occurs.

- On Monday (time)
- During the summer (time)
- At 3 o'clock (time)

Adverbial Phrases of Place:

These describe where an action or event occurs.

- In the park (place)
- At the library (place)
- Under the table (place)

Adverbial Phrases of Frequency:

These describe how often an action or event occurs.

- Every day (frequency)
- Twice a week (frequency)
- Rarely (frequency)

Word Order:

In English, adverbial phrases usually come after the subject and before the main verb or after the verb "be."

- She reads books in the library. (place)
- They meet on Fridays. (time)
- He exercises twice a week. (frequency)

Summary Chart:

Type	Example Adverbial Phrases
Time	On Monday, During the summer, At 3 o'clock
Place	In the park, At the library, Under the table
Frequency	Every day, Twice a week, Rarely