

PRESENT SIMPLE

Present Simple is a verb tense used to describe actions that are habitual, routine, general truths, or facts. It is typically used to talk about things that happen regularly or are always true.

Here's how it works:

Structure:

- To form the Present Simple tense, you typically use the base form of the verb, which is the verb in its simplest form (e.g., play, eat, go).

Affirmative (Positive) Sentences:

- Subject + verb (base form).

Negative Sentences:

- Subject + do/does + not + verb (base form).

Questions:

- Do/Does + subject + verb (base form)?

Examples:

1. Affirmative Sentences:

- I play tennis every weekend.
- She works at a bookstore.
- They live in New York.

2. Negative Sentences:

- He does not (doesn't) eat meat.
- We do not (don't) watch TV in the morning.
- It does not (doesn't) rain often here.

3. Questions:

- Do you like pizza?
- Does he have a car?
- Do they speak Spanish?

Summary Chart:

Subject	Affirmative	Negative	Questions
I	play	do not (don't) play	Do I play?

Subject	Affirmative	Negative	Questions
You	play	do not (don't) play	Do you play?
He/She/It	plays	does not (doesn't) play	Does he/she/it play?
We/They	play	do not (don't) play	Do we/they play?