

PERSONAL PRONOUNS

Personal pronouns are words used to replace nouns in a sentence, representing people or things. There are three categories of personal pronouns: subject pronouns, object pronouns, and possessive pronouns. Here, I'll focus on simple personal pronouns.

Subject Pronouns:

- Subject pronouns are used when the pronoun is the subject of a sentence, the one performing the action.
1. I: Used for the first person singular (the person speaking).
    - Example: I am going to the store.
  2. You: Used for the second person singular (the person being spoken to) and both singular and plural in modern English.
    - Example: You are my friend.
  3. He: Used for the third person singular masculine.
    - Example: He is tall.
  4. She: Used for the third person singular feminine.
    - Example: She is intelligent.
  5. It: Used for the third person singular neuter (for things, animals, and sometimes non-gendered entities).
    - Example: It is raining.
  6. We: Used for the first person plural (including the speaker and others).
    - Example: We are going on a trip.
  7. They: Used for the third person plural (a group of people or things).
    - Example: They are my colleagues.

Summary Chart:

Person	Subject Pronoun
First	I
Second	You
Third (Masculine)	He
Third (Feminine)	She

Person	Subject Pronoun
Third (Neuter)	It
First Plural (including the speaker)	We
Third Plural	They